

Infranity appoints Patrick Liedtke as Chief Client Officer & Chief Economist

Paris, 27 September 2022 - Infranity, the infrastructure asset management company, has appointed Patrick Liedtke as Chief Client Officer & Chief Economist, joining the company's Executive Committee.

Patrick Liedtke joins Infranity from BlackRock, where he spent almost ten years. He will be responsible for developing investor relations and establishing economic research on the macroeconomic environment and market trends in relation to Infranity's activities.

Philippe Benaroya, CEO of Infranity, said: "We are delighted to welcome Patrick Liedtke to Infranity, he is a leader in the asset management industry. With 25 years of experience leading financial institutions, Patrick brings a comprehensive view of emerging infrastructure investment trends and a broad analysis of the most pressing economic issues. His global distribution experience will further accelerate Infranity's growth."

Patrick Liedtke: "I am delighted to join Infranity, with whom I share the values of excellence, sustainability and commitment. In the current volatile business climate, my mission will be to help our clients find investment solutions for their portfolios by optimising the risk/return trade-off. We will share our expertise in infrastructure to help our investors find the best exposure in this asset class."

Infranity is a renowned manager of sustainable infrastructure investments both in Europe and internationally. With a team of around 45 people based in London and Paris, Infranity manages over €7 billion of assets in strategic themes such as energy transition, green mobility, digital transition and social infrastructure in the health and education sectors.
